

Position Title: Product Engineer - Image Processing & AI

Position Type: Full Time

Job Location: Mumbai (Work from Office)

Salary: INR 6-8 LPA

Key Responsibilities:

Stillswab is looking for a passionate individual to work directly with the founders towards the product development that intends to create disruption in image processing and management. One need to have hands-on to image processing algorithms.

Responsibilities and Duties

- Develop algorithms to sort images by various parameters
- Design & develop image processing & AI algorithms for object detection across millions of images
- Improve on efficiency of existing data analytic algorithms
- Design & develop image and video compression algorithms
- Develop different data analytic algorithms as per product requirements
- Collaborating with product development teams to deployment of algorithms and ensure the output efficacy
- Work towards data security and privacy
- Actively look for innovation and continuous improvement, efficiency in all assigned tasks
- Investigate issues by reviewing/debugging code, provides fixes and workarounds, and reviews changes for operability to maintain existing software solutions
- Ensure 100% compliance to QMS processes.

Qualifications

- Bachelor's degree in Computer Science (or related field)
- 3+ years of relevant work experience

Skills

- Experienced coder in python or node
- Multi-threading concepts

- Image processing libraries/frameworks
- Image Processing- the building blocks of the subject to more advanced concepts
- Good with Mathematics and inclination towards research (Read Research Papers and understand the Mathematical/Scientific concepts)
- Team player
- Ability to self learn and take initiatives

Good to have

- Experience /functional knowledge in Python
- GPU-OpenCL/CUDA knowledge
- OS concepts- Linux and Windows
- Knowledge of basics of Machine learning(ML), Deep Learning(DL) and Artificial Intelligence(AI)
- Knowledge of image acquisition devices like Camera

About Stillsweb (company):

At Stillsweb, you will have fun working with a fast-paced team that are changing lives to many. Being an early core team member, you will see the direct impact of our product onto the customers and will be an integral part of the product development process. Stillsweb is highly reliable, secure, on demand and consolidated storage solution for images. It's built primarily for photographers and image based businesses to store and manage images for personal, clients, and corporate use.

Write your cover and CV to amit@stillsweb.com